

The ways one can spend time
at TEX conferences ...

ConTeXt Meeting, Brejlov, 18.9.2010, 12:11,
second row on the left, sitting behind Hans' back,
using Google talk

★ me

♣ Troy Henderson

- ❖ Good morning. Do you know if there were ever finalized instructions made for installing the Lucida fonts for ConTeXt minimalists?
- ★ I don't know. But I managed to make them work if I remember correctly.
- ❖ I recently tried to install them on another machine, and I was unsuccessful.

...

- ★ I have Hans sitting in front of me and complaining about Lucida. He says: "Don't use Lucida."
- ❖ I think he said the same thing when I emailed the list several months ago ;) I have a couple of math textbooks that use Lucida and perhaps it's the math topic itself, but they are my favorite math books ... so naturally I'm a little "attached" to Lucida because of that ;)
- ❖ I have just talked to Hans. There was a suggestion to write an email to Karl Berry and to hire Khaled Hosny to create an OpenType font with OpenType math. else it becomes pretty much a dead font. I think that would be great. Khaled usually needs about a week to create an OpenType font.

3 weeks later ...

12th October 2010, Karl Berry's email:

Hi folks,

First, thanks for suggesting and taking on the Lucida OpenType project.

The current status is that we are waiting for Chuck's lawyer to draft a short agreement that we will all sign.